

THAYER TUTT AWARD RECIPIENT TOM JAMES

The respected and successful Colorado Springs attorney has been one of the city's unsung heroes in the family of amateur sports for over two decades. James served the Colorado Springs Sports Corporation as its President and as a Board Member, and was a dedicated supporter of Sports Corp activities and its mission. He has also served as counsel to a number of the USOC's National Governing Bodies in the critical areas of organizational formation, sponsorship and television contracts, protection and licensing of intellectual property, and grievances and complaints filed under NGB bylaws. His advice and counsel has been invaluable to the Olympic family that calls Colorado Springs home. Tom has devoted countless hours as a board member to a variety of state, regional and Colorado Springs nonprofit organizations that serve education, sports, business, health, and human services.
